PrEP willingness

PrEP stands for pre-exposure prophylaxis. It involves a healthy person taking a pill used to treat HIV in order to prevent being infected with HIV. The pills have to be taken once a day, every day. Some people who take these pills experience side effects. These may include nausea and weight loss, which usually go away after the first month. In rare cases, taking the pill for long periods may damage the kidneys. The medication is prescribed by a doctor. Taking this medication provides only partial protection against HIV infection. So, a person on the medication should still practice other HIV prevention strategies like using condoms every time. For people who take the pill every day, studies have shown that it provides up to 90% protection against HIV infection.

Would you be willing to take anti-HIV medicines every day to lower your chances of getting HIV?

Barriers to HIV Prevention Services

In the United States, have you experienced any of the following barriers to getting HIV prevention services, such as HIV testing, PrEP, or PEP? Check all that apply.

- Health care provider doesn't speak my language
- Pharmacist doesn't speak my language
- I didn't have access to an interpreter
- I was worried that an interpreter might disclose my HIV status or sexual orientation to others in my community
- I was worried that a health care provider would share my information with law or immigration enforcement
- I was worried that a health care provider would discriminate against me because of my sexual orientation or gender identity
- I was worried that a health care provider would discriminate against me because of my race/ethnicity
- I was worried that a health care provider would discriminate against me because of my country of origin
- Health care provider doesn't understand my culture
- I don't have insurance
- None of the above
- I prefer not to answer

Stigma - NHBS Measure

The next part of the survey is about your experience with stigma and discrimination in different environments. We know that experiences of mistreatment can be difficult to discuss or think about. We ask these questions so we can understand your experiences and improve the health and safety of you and other members of the community. Remember, you do not have to answer any question if you don't want to, and your responses will remain private and entirely confidential.

In the past 12 months, have any of the following things happened to you because someone knew or assumed you were attracted to men?

	Yes	No	I prefer not to answer	Don't know	Does not apply
You were called names or insulted {STIGMA_NAMES}	()	()	()	()	()

Suicidality

Now we're going to ask you some questions about how you may have felt in the past 12 months, that is since [MONTH/YEAR].

At any time in the past 12 months, up to and including today, did you seriously think about trying to kill yourself?

- No
- Yes
- I prefer not to answer
- Don't know

Logic: "At any time in the past 12 months, up to and including today, did you seriously think about trying to kill yourself?" is one of the following answers ("Yes")

During the past 12 months, did you make any plans to kill yourself?

STD Testing

Now we're going to ask you about testing for sexually transmitted infections.

Have you ever been tested for the sexually transmitted infections gonorrhea, chlamydia, or syphilis?

- No
- Yes
- I prefer not to answer
- Don't know

Logic: "Have you ever been tested for the sexually transmitted infections gonorrhea, chlamydia, or syphilis?" is one of the following answers ("Yes")

In the past 12 months, that is, since [MONTH/YEAR], were you tested by a doctor or other health care provider for a sexually transmitted infection like gonorrhea, chlamydia, or syphilis?

- No
- Yes

Self-Collected STI Specimens

Sexually transmitted infection (STI) tests are available that allow you to self-collect the specimens yourself from your butt and your throat and then send the specimens to a laboratory for gonorrhea or chlamydia testing. (This is different from "self-testing," in which people test themselves with self-collected swabs or urine and read the results themselves from the test.)

Have you ever self-collected a swab from your butt (inserted a swab into your anus) and had the swab sent to a lab for gonorrhea or chlamydia testing?

- Yes, in the past 12 months, since [MONTH/YEAR]
- Yes, but not in the past 12 months
- No
- I prefer not to answer
- Don't know

Logic: "Have you ever self-collected a swab from your butt (inserted a swab into your anus) and had the swab sent to a lab for gonorrhea or chlamydia testing?" is one of the following answers ("Yes, in the past 12 months, since [MONTH/YEAR]")

Where were you when you self-collected a swab from your butt (check all that apply)?

- Private doctor's office
- HIV counseling and testing site
- Public health clinic/community health clinic
- Street outreach program/mobile unit
- Sexually transmitted disease clinic
- Hospital (inpatient)
- Correctional facility (jail or prison)
- Emergency room
- At home

STI Testing App

Imagine that you were offered an app that would help you keep track of how often to test for sexually transmitted infections (STI) like gonorrhea, chlamydia, or syphilis. When it's time to test, the app would also let you order STI test kits to be shipped to your home. Is this an app that you would use?

- No
- Yes
- I prefer not to answer
- Don't know

Diarrheal Disease Awareness

Several germs that cause diarrheal diseases can be spread through sexual activity. This includes germs like Shigella, Giardia, and Cryptosporidium. People can get sick with these germs when they put something in their mouths or swallow something that has come into contact with the poop of someone else who is sick with a diarrheal illness. This can happen if you eat food or swallow water that was contaminated by infected poop, or if your hands come into contact with infected poop. These germs can also spread during sexual contact, including oral or anal sex, or from rimming, fingering or fisting.

Before reading the information above, were you aware that diarrheal diseases could be spread through sexual contact?

- No
- Yes
- I prefer not to answer
- Don't know

GC Vaccine

There is not yet an approved vaccine on the market to protect people against the sexually transmitted infection gonorrhea. However, researchers have made significant advances in recent years.

If a gonorrhea vaccine was available, how willing would you be to get a vaccine that would protect you against gonorrhea?

- Very willing
- Somewhat willing
- Neither willing nor unwilling
- Somewhat unwilling
- Very unwilling
- Don't know

Logic: "If a gonorrhea vaccine was available, how willing would you be to get a vaccine that would protect you against gonorrhea?" is one of the following answers ("Very willing", "Somewhat willing", "Neither willing nor unwilling", "Somewhat unwilling")

At which of these location(s) would you feel comfortable receiving a gonorrhea vaccine (check all that apply)?

- Primary care provider
- Sexual health clinic/STD clinic
- Health department public health clinic
- HIV testing site
- PrEP (pre-exposure prophylaxis) clinic (PrEP is an antiretroviral medicine called Truvada which is taken daily for months or years by a person who is HIV-negative to reduce their risk of getting HIV)
- Urgent care clinic
- AIDS service organization/AIDS community-based organization
- HIV care provider
- Pharmacy
- High school or university-based health center

GC Vaccine, cont'd

Considering the locations that you chose in the previous question, which location would be your first choice to receive a gonorrhea vaccine?

DCE intro question

Pre-exposure prophylaxis, or PrEP, has been shown to reduce the risk of acquisition of HIV when taken as a daily pill. Researchers are working on an injectable form of PrEP that would be prescribed by a doctor and given as a shot. The shot would have to be given every few months to reduce the risk of getting HIV.

How likely would you be to use this injectable form of PrEP to reduce the risk of getting HIV?

- Very likely
- Somewhat likely
- Neither likely nor unlikely
- Somewhat unlikely
- Very unlikely
- I prefer not to answer
- Don't know

Page entry logic: This page will show when: ("How likely would you be to use this injectable form of PrEP to reduce the risk of getting HIV?" is one of the following answers ("Very likely", "Somewhat likely", "Neither likely nor unlikely", "Somewhat unlikely") AND DCE random question module (1 to 3) is exactly equal to "1")

DCE Module #1

Now we're going to ask you some questions to better understand the characteristics of injectable PrEP that would be most desirable to potential patients.

For each question below, you will be presented with two sets of hypothetical choices related to injectable PrEP. Considering all the hypothetical characteristics in each pair, choose either Choice A or Choice B. There are 9 questions like this in total.

Here are some definitions to help you to better understand the characteristics and choices:

Side effects:

- Mild side effects, you may feel some pain at the injection site or some nausea after the injection, but it's mild enough that it doesn't affect your ability to go about your daily life.
- Moderate side effects, you may feel some pain at the injection site or some nausea after the injection. The pain is enough that it affects your ability to go about your day, and you do something to alleviate the side effects, such as taking pain medications or applying ice to the site.
- Severe side effects, you may feel extreme pain at the injection site or bad nausea after the injection, so much that you seek outside care, such as seeking professional healthcare services.

Out-of-pocket cost: Fees (e.g. deductibles, coinsurance, or copayments) that you pay directly to a business in order to receive the injection. The cost listed would be per injection.

Negative judgment: Insensitive comments or actions that someone may say or do in response to finding out you received injectable PrEP.

CHOICE A

- Mild side effects
- Injection done every 3 months
- $25 out of pocket
- Injection done at private doctor's office
- Medium-level risk that others will judge you negatively for being on PrEP

CHOICE B

- Severe side effects
- Injection done every other month
- $0 out of pocket
- Injection done at a pharmacy
- Low-level risk that others will judge you negatively for being on PrEP

For this pair, which characteristics of a PrEP injection would you prefer?

- Choice A
- Choice B

CHOICE A

- Moderate side effects
- Injection done every 6 months
- $25 out of pocket
- Injection done at a sexual health clinic
- Low-level risk that others will judge you negatively for being on PrEP

CHOICE B

- Mild side effects

Page entry logic: This page will show when: (DCE random question module (1 to 3) is exactly equal to "2" AND "How likely would you be to use this injectable form of PrEP to reduce the risk of getting HIV?" is one of the following answers ("Very likely", "Somewhat likely", "Neither likely nor unlikely", "Somewhat unlikely"))

DCE Module #2

Now we're going to ask you some questions to better understand the characteristics of injectable PrEP that would be most desirable to potential patients.

For each question below, you will be presented with two sets of hypothetical choices related to injectable PrEP. Considering all the hypothetical characteristics in each pair, choose either Choice A or Choice B. There are 9 questions like this in total.

Here are some definitions to help you to better understand the characteristics and choices:

Side effects:

- Mild side effects, you may feel some pain at the injection site or some nausea after the injection, but it's mild enough that it doesn't affect your ability to go about your daily life.
- Moderate side effects, you may feel some pain at the injection site or some nausea after the injection. The pain is enough that it affects your ability to go about your day, and you do something to alleviate the side effects, such as taking pain medications or applying ice to the site.
- Severe side effects, you may feel extreme pain at the injection site or bad nausea after the injection, so much that you seek outside care, such as seeking professional healthcare services.

Out-of-pocket cost: Fees (e.g. deductibles, coinsurance, or copayments) that you pay directly to a business in order to receive the injection. The cost listed would be per injection.

Negative judgment: Insensitive comments or actions that someone may say or do in response to finding out you received injectable PrEP.

CHOICE A

- Mild side effects
- Injection done every 3 months
- $100 out of pocket
- Injection done at a pharmacy
- Low-level risk that others will judge you negatively for being on PrEP

CHOICE B

- Severe side effects
- Injection done every 6 months
- $25 out of pocket
- Injection done at a sexual health clinic
- Medium-level risk that others will judge you negatively for being on PrEP

For this pair, which characteristics of a PrEP injection would you prefer?

Choice A

Choice B

CHOICE A

- Mild side effects
- Injection done every other month
- $100 out of pocket

Study Target Inquiries

We just have a few more questions left...

For this national study, we are recruiting a large number of men like you. Can you tell us the name of a social networking website or app where we could reach other men like you who might like to complete this survey?

Future Contact

The PRISM Health team conducts many research projects at Emory University. Would you like to be contacted for potential participation in our future projects?

- Yes
- No

Logic: "The PRISM Health team conducts many research projects at Emory University. Would you like to be contacted for potential participation in our future projects?" is one of the following answers ("Yes")

Please provide the email address you would like for us to use to contact you for future studies.

Survey End

Thank you for taking our survey! Your response is very important to us!
